Sebastian Epplin

Sebastian Epplin was born of ordinary everyday parents in the province of Alsace Lorraine, France, in the year 1817 on December 10 and grew to be a man, married and had one child.

Sebastian Epplin had several brothers and one sister. Two of the brothers served under the Generalship of Louis Napoleon III until the attack on Moscow after which they were never heard from. We are told that Sebastian's father also served in the French army and became leader of a few men and that at one time his general rode up on horseback and ordered him to take a certain building and to take it by storm. Now Sebastian's father knew that there were many men in the building, very possibly more than he had and that it would be suicide to try, but as the general rode away an enemy bullet fell him. Sebastian's father did not have to carry out the general's command!!

Unfortunately Sebastian's wife and only child passed away. Perhaps saddened by this and the possibility of meeting the same fate as his brothers, he booked passage to America. His troubles were still not over as the Captain of the ship, being an adventurer, took them off in search of new islands and ocean routes instead of bringing them to America, as he was paid to do. This continued on until the police of Spain seized him and did almost everything but kill him. At the beginning of the trip they played ball on the deck with some biscuits they had until later in the journey (which took 93 days) they ate them even though they had become almost unbearably salty. Sebastian eventually landed at New Orleans, Louisiana, in 1851 and finding it too hot he came North on the Mississippi to French Village, Illinois, and found work in a livery stable.

Someone told Sebastian of a widow with four children in St. Louis and said that it would be nice if he married her and helped raise the children. Now the widow was Catherine Holdener Martin formerly of Switzerland. Why the Martins and their children, John, Michael, Rosie, Mary and an infant left Switzerland, we haven't the slightest idea except it was about 1850. Could it have been the '49 Gold Rush? Whatever their plans were, they were changed when Mr. Martin became ill on the sailing vessel crossing the ocean and passed away at sea. Now when it became apparent that Mr. Martin (his first name we do not know) was going to die, his wife told him that when he reached his Judgment he should ask God to take their infant, too, so she would not have such a big job in the new strange land. About three hours after Mr. Martin's death, the infant died. Both the father and child were buried together in the Atlantic Ocean. Upon landing, Mrs. Martin came to St. Louis until meeting and marrying Sebastian Epplin about 1855.

We have the story from Switzerland brought to us by Catherine Holdener of how her brother would climb up in the Alps to cut hay for his cows. He would take a long rope along and tie one end to a tree or rock and the other end to his waist, for if he should slip or fall, he would roll over a cliff to his death.

Sebastian Epplin and Catherine Holdener Martin were married in St. Clair County, date of marriage unknown. This union was blessed with three children:

Victor Epplin, Born October 17, 1857 at French Village

Louisa Epplin, Born June 26, 1860 in Perry Co. IL

Joseph Epplin, Born October 6, 1862 in Perry Co. IL

It took the generosity and understanding of many people to keep the Epplin's going in Perry County. Like the time Sebastian came to DuQuoin to find a place to farm. He needed a place to spend the night, so he and a storekeeper slept in the store because the storekeeper didn't have room at his home and he was afraid to leave Sebastian, a total stranger, alone in his store, so he slept there, too.

About 1858 the Epplin's moved their few belongings from French Village to DuQuoin by train (remember, this was just before the Civil War, the trains must have been quite antique and the track from Illinois town, now East St. Louis, to DuQuoin must not have been laid more than two or three years) and upon unloading they forgot the dog until just as the train was leaving. Sebastian thought of the dog and yelled "Holt, Holt, Mien Hount!, Mien Hount!" But the train did not stop and giving up the dog for lost, they continued to move to a farm owned by a Mr. Ulrich. This farm was four and one half miles west of DuQuoin. Upon awakening the next morning they found the dog sleeping with the oxen, apparently having been released by the train crew somewhere down the line, following the track back to the stop and the oxen scent the rest of the way. The Ulrich farm had a grainery containing nine sacks of wheat. This grainery was made of rails and covered with clapboards. Clapboards are shingles split from logs three feet long, split about one half inch thick and as wide as can be (about six inches). Someone told him when and how to sow the wheat. This he did, but only he sowed it a little too early and the fly got in it and Sebastian got a little wheat, but not much of a crop. The next spring someone gave him some corn and this he planted, but the weather being unfavorable, he did not get much corn. In those days in the winter they wore jeans that had linings and Sebastian had a pair that he wore all winter. Then when spring came his jeans were pretty well worn, so Sebastian wore the linings.

The Sebastian Epplin family lived a several places before finally settling about four miles south of Pinckneyville near what is known as the Old Joseph Epplin place, legally being described as the S.E. 1/4 of the N.E. 1/4 of Section 12 of Township 6 South Range 3 W. of the 3rd principle meridian.

Sebastian received his naturalization papers on April 28, 1865 in Pinckneyville, Illinois, Perry County. These papers showed him to be a subject of Louis Napoleon, Emperor of France. He died August 16, 1905 at the age of 87 years, 8 months and 6 days and is buried in St. Bruno's Catholic Cemetery, Pinckneyville, Illinois. Catherine Holdener Martin Epplin was born February 28, 1821 and died January 8, 1898 age 76 years, 10 months, and 10 days, and is buried in St. Bruno's Catholic Cemetery, Pinckneyville, Illinois.
